

3. Divide your page into parts. Each person write on that subject non-stop for 5 mins. Here's where you can have a rant. What you think, feel, know or like/hate about the subject.

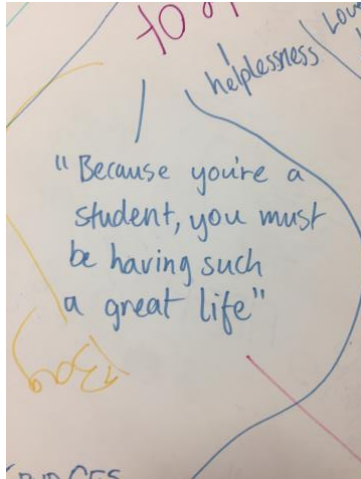

4. Read it out, underline the best bits, figure out what you are going to use, throw away the 'fat'.

5. Write it down like a script. Who is saying what? Is there something you will say together? Will there be a chorus?

You can get out the laptops for this bit or go old style paper and pen.

6. Rehearse, add movement, sing it, yell it, polish it, tighten it, perfect it.

7. Perform like you are auditioning for Poets Got Talent. Give it your all. Shine like the tiny diamonds you are.
